CHANDLER NOT KILLED IN PARIS

On His Way To This Country On Steamer—False Report About Accident

London, Aug. 13.—It was declared today that Byron D. Chandler of Boston, who last night was reported killed in a motor car accident near Boulogne, France, sailed yesterday for home on board the Oceanic.

The statement was made by Nicholas Wood, a member of the motor club, who dined with Mr. Chandler in London yesterday. Mr. Wood received a farewell telegram from Mr. Chandler today.

The Oceanic sailed from Southampton. It would appear that Mr. Chandler went down to Southampton from London Tuesday night.

The interruption of telegraphic communication with Boulogne prevented further investigation of the report received last night that Byron D. Chandler of Boston, son of the late Byron Chandler, a banker of Manchester, N. H., had been killed in an automobile accident near Boulogne.

All that is actually known as to the source of the report is that two newspapers of Paris received each dispatched signed "Kelley" to the effect that Mr. Chandler's automobile had fallen into a ravine, that Mr. Chandler was killed, and that the chauffeur and two other persons were injured.

BAD MONEY IN CIRCULATION

Clever Work in Raising $5 to $20 by Expert Workers—Warning Sent Out

Washington, Aug. 13.—That bad currency of remarkably clever execution is being circulated in Texas, Louisiana, Alabama and Mississippi is the general warning sent out Chief Wilkie of the secret service.

"National bank notes of the denomination of $5," said Chief Wilkie, "have been raised to $20 and are being circulated freely."

"The top layer of the figure 20 has been skillfully sliced from each corner of a note by the delicate use of a pipe stem or hollow ground razor and the severed portion has been pasted over the figure 5 on the bill of lesser denomination, an operation that had to be repeated eight times for each raising of a bill."

"By bending over a rounded surface the portion of the $20 bill containing the figure 20, the counterfeiter succeeded in fitting off with the sharp edge of the razor merely the top half of the paper, leaving the original figure 20 sufficiently undisturbed to allow the $20 bill to pass unchallenged. Thus, out of a $20 bill and a 5 dollar bill the counterfeiter

Are You on Good Terms With Your Stomach?

Treat it right—its your best friend. Abuse it —and you'll find there's a limit. When the limit is reached, the stomach must rest. Kodol rests it.

That is what Kodol is for. The stomach cannot stop work; if it did you would stop existing. It cannot even take a vacation and "rest up" except when it has Kodol to assist it.

Very likely you never gave a thought to how hard your stomach works. Most people don't until they have to. Sometimes, though, it costs less to do a little thinking before one has to.

Even the galley-slave of the ancients rested—at intervals. But the stomach of modern man works harder than the galley-slave, and it never rests—of itself.

Kodol, of course, will rest the stomach, but that is something nature didn't provide for. If people now-a-days lived the way nature intended, it wouldn't have been necessary to provide for it. But they don't—that's the trouble.

Better keep on good terms with your stomach, if you can. Your health depends absolutely upon the perfect performance of the stomach's functions. Ever think of that—or why it is true?

The human body is composed of certain chemical elements. These are combined to form substances such as fat, protein, carbohydrates, mineral matter and water.

The food we eat is composed of exactly these elements. The stomach must disintegrate this food and correctly apportion it to the needs of the system. Lucky like a lot of work for the stomach, doesn't it? No wonder it occasionally needs Kodol to help it do this.

The person who has the kind of a stomach that can do its own work continuously, without assistance has a good deal to be thankful for. Most people haven't that kind. That is why they require Kodol.

Kodol will do all the stomach's work for it, when necessary, giving it a period of complete rest. The rest that restores health. That's how Kodol cures indigestion, which is merely a good digestion "gone wrong."

People used to think that when they had indigestion they should stop eating or limit themselves to a prescribed diet. Others commenced purging with cathartics. All that is very disagreeable and unpleasant. Also, it isn't necessary.

Starvation or purging doesn't cure anything. Kodol doesn't cure anything either—but shows nature the right road, in short order. Kodol merely establishes complete and perfect digestion. It does this by digesting every particle of the food. The stomach then rests and cures itself. That is what was intended when Kodol was made. It couldn't be any other way.

Kodol is quite indispensable to a good many persons. To all, in fact, who haven't time in their daily lives for a careful selection of foods and diet. It very quickly enables nature to rectify any disagreeable effects of wrong eating.

POMONA GRANGE HOLD PICNIC

At Stratham Hill Park With A Large
Attendance And Several Speakers

The annual picnic of the East Pomona Grange was held on Wednesday at Stratham Hill Park, and it was one of the largest attended and most enjoyable outings that has been held by the Grange for some time.

It was a basket picnic and everybody came well prepared for the outing. There was a baseball game between Greenfield and Stratham, and other games that took up the greater part of the afternoon.

In the pavilion there was a program given consisting of selections by the Grange Orchestra, an address by Rev. Alvin J. Densell of Rockland, Me., on "The Young Man The Man of the Hour."

Mr. Prescott also loved the versatility and dedicated the audience with a violin solo.

C. Harold Rogers, Master of the Rocker Grange, gave an interesting paper on Forestry and the White Mountain Reservation.

Mr. R. W. Phillips of Derry and Manchester, gave an address on what he knew about corporations.

There was a concert solo by Evelyn L. Godfrey of Stratham.

Rev. E. C. E. Dorton of Plymouth gave an address on Rural Life.

Following these exercises, there were games of all description and the gathering did not break up until late in the evening.

Out of dark clothes and a black army shirt.

The crime of which Charles Keag is wanted at Magnolia, was committed on Sunday evening when Mrs. Cornell a summer boarder was walking along the road when she was held up by a man who on her pointing to give up her money he shot her the bullet entering her neck. The wound was however slight and she is fast recovering.

Inspector Sullivan of the Gloucester police was here today, took a careful look at the stranger, and decided that he is not Keag.

Now, who is he? Is he wanted at Boston, Methuen or elsewhere, or is he simply a man who was leaving the railroad out of a fare?

ALLEGED PICKPOCKETS RELEASED

Cumberland County Authorities Lack the Evidence to Hold Them

Thomas O'Neil, George Brady and Harry E. Hall, the three men who were arrested at Old Orchard Sunday by Chief of Police Mower of that town on suspicion of being the men wanted here on the robbery of $200 worth of gems from Biskara Court of Portland, did not appear Wednesday when the cases against them were called at Portland. After some discussion participated in by Judge H. L. County Attorney Connely and Chief Mower, it was decided that the state had not made out a case against the men and on recommendation of County Attorney Connely a nolle prosequi was entered. As the case was taken for the three men were made by their attorney.

When the men were taken to jail and they were closely examined by the Captain Firth and Chief Mower immediately investigated. As a result of this investigation it was ascertained that they could not have been connected with the robbery because two of them were in custody of the Portsmouth police at the time the robbery was committed. The Portland police are satisfied that they had no part in the affair.

MRS. EDDY'S WRITINGS

Presented to Battleship New Hampshire
by Portsmouth Christian Scientists

On Wednesday afternoon representatives from the Christian Science Society of this city went on board the ship and presented copies of the books of Rev. Mary Baker Eddy in behalf of the society. A note accompanying the books was as follows:

To Captain Cameron M. Hays, United States ship New Hampshire. In behalf of the Christian Science Society of Portsmouth, N. H., we have the pleasure in presenting to this ship New Hampshire, named for our state, and also the state of the nation of these valuable works which which we present. The result of these books bring peace to the heart which extends to nations, preventing wars, even as the mission of this grand ship is to do. Signed, Christian Science Society, Portsmouth, N. H.

In the absence of Capt. Winslow, the representatives were graciously received by Commander Wells, who expressed great pleasure and extended hearty thanks for the handsome gift in behalf of captain, officers and men of the ship.

THIS FOR YOU

There is only one way to obtain a clear, transparent and flawless complexion; massage treatment makes the flesh pliable, the so-called beauty creams containing oily or other greasy substances, fill up the pores of the skin, preventing them from doing their work properly, and also inhibit the growth of a fine, fuzzy hair on the face. If you would have a face entirely free from pimples, blotches, freckles, blackheads and kindred diseases of the skin, get the following prescription put up at any reliable Drug Store and your troubles will soon be over.

Clearola one-half ounce. Ether one ounce. Alcohol seven ounces. Mix. Shake well and apply to the face night and morning allowing it to remain at least ten minutes, the better. The quicker results you will have, in extreme cases apply four or five times daily.

The flimsy powder deposits on the face may be wiped off after a reasonable time. Do not use any soap, instead wash the face with oatmeal and a little powdered orris root tied up in a cheese cloth bag, and no matter how bad your face is, or what the cause may have been, this will surely cure it. This prescription is perfectly harmless and can be used on the most delicate skin.

WORK WANTED

Old jobs of all description, such as beating carpets, sawing wood, caring for cemetery lots, preparing and planting gardens, and trimming bushes a specialty, wanted by a reliable man. Orders can be left at No. 27 South street or telephoned to Tel. Number 3493 and they will receive prompt attention.

"My child was burned terribly about the face, neck and chest. I applied Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. The pain ceased and the child sank into a restful sleep." Mrs. Nancy M. Hanson, Hamburg, N. Y.

There were several hundred blue jackets ashore Wednesday afternoon and evening.

"Mad Parliament"

The name mad parliament was given to the parliament which assembled at Oxford in the year 1358, and broke out into open rebellion against Henry III. The king was declared deposed, and the government was vested in the hands of 21 councilors, with Simon de Montfort at their head.—New York American.

Headress of Indian Ruler.

The maharajah of Oudh has a head-dress of gems which is valued at $250,000. It is worn only on state occasions. The front and crest of this part of the maharajah's regalia are formed by a mass of closest diamonds, while a fringe of large drops of pure emeralds hangs over the forehead.

Scarcity of Humor.

It is to be feared that if the papers received a special corner once each week for the witless of the week, it would be often left blank. There is no wit to speak of today, only a feeble imitation of it which people are fond of calling the saving sense of humor.—London Saturday Review.

LIQUOR SHIPMENT BILL.

Address to Christian Voters Asks Them to Strive For Election of Men Favorable to Its Passage.

Baltimore, Aug. 12.—The Methodist Episcopal church has begun an active campaign for the election of a speaker "who will allow congress to vote on the interstate liquor shipment bill."

The church, which has over three millions of communicants, has created the Temperance Society of the Methodist Episcopal church, with authority to represent the denomination in all temperance matters. This society is managed by a board composed of a bishop and fifteen members, named by the bishop and elected by the lay conference.

The board of managers has organized and directed its chairman to take steps to begin an active campaign. An official address has been issued to all members of the denomination, asking their cooperation.

The "liquor shipment bill," which has been pending in congress for at least five years, does not seek to impose prohibition upon any locality, but provides that liquor shipped from one state to another shall immediately upon crossing the boundary become subject to the laws of the state into which it is consigned.

"The speaker of the national house of representatives," says the address, "absolutely controls its procedure. He is opposed to this legislation. He has used the power of his office to hold it in the judicial committee appointed by him, on the alleged ground that it is unconstitutional."

"The church, by action of the recent general conference, insists that congressional doubt as to the constitutionality of such legislation be resolved in the interests of the people and the public morals, and that general conference unanimously adopted the report of Governor Hanley's special committee appointed to wait upon Speaker Cannon, which closed with the words: 'We submit to one people and to all good citizens the wisdom of electing men as members of congress who have in their vitality and who are willing to enact it.'"

"At least one member of the house judiciary committee has been defeated for the nomination on his record on this question, and we believe the time has come when our people who want to help secure this legislation must support for congress candidates who will not only vote for this measure if they get a chance, but will themselves support for speaker a man who will allow it to be voted upon, and that his passage be impracticable until Christian voters recognize this situation and cast their ballots accordingly."

LOUISE COLLIER ARRESTED.

New York, Aug. 12.—Louise A. Collier, wife of William Collier, the actor, was arrested in Jersey City as she was alighting from an Atlantic City train. The charge against her is that of attempting to defraud the Grand Atlantic hotel of Atlantic City out of $32,500. After valuing attempting to have jewels worth $2000 accepted as security for her appearance in court today, Miss Collier succeeded in finding a bondsman who furnished bail in $500. The actress refused to discuss the circumstances which led to her arrest.

PET BULLET INTO HIS HEAD.

East Douglas, Mass., Aug. 12.—While visiting at the home of his father here yesterday, Clarence C. C. Porter of Boston, aged 44, who had been out of employment since the brokerage house of J. J. Quinn went out of business, obtained from his father a promise of a loan of $1500 with which to start in the brokerage business in New Hampshire. He then wrote a letter to his wife in Boston and while his father had gone to mail it, the son killed himself by shooting through the head.

BIG ARMIES ON THE MOVE.

Tangle, Aug. 12.—A dispatch from Tex says that the news that Abd-El-Aziz had crossed the River Oued-El-Robla resulted in a decision by Abd-El-Hadi to dispatch an army of 50,000 men to Morocco City. Another army which left Morocco City a week ago is blocked at Kenitra by hostile tribesmen. A number of men of the Ben Haroun tribe, which is favorable to Abd-El-Aziz, have defeated the Ben Haden tribesmen, who are followers of the sultan of the south.

VICTORY FOR WICKERSHAM.

Seattle, Aug. 12.—Returns from Alaska give James Wickersham, formerly judge of the Third judicial district of that territory, a big majority. The fight was on the lines of territorial government, and the fact that Wickersham is the bitterest political enemy that Governor Hoggatt has indicates that for the second time the people of Alaska have recorded themselves against Hoggatt.

TO BE GIVEN A FAIR TRIAL.

Three Monarchs Consider the New Regime in Turkey.

London, Aug. 12.—The visits paid by King Edward to Emperor William at Cronberg and to Emperor Francis Joseph at Ischl, while not likely to lead to any formal diplomatic transactions, are considered highly important in official circles as affecting the relations of Great Britain, Germany and Austria-Hungary.

There have been many reports concerning the conversations of the monarchs and the representatives of the foreign offices of the three countries, but officials in London say that most of these statements can be dismissed as without particular value.

"There is no doubt," said a British official, "that Turkey has been one of the subjects under discussion. This would assuredly be the fact in a gathering of any persons interested in international politics, but there is nothing to settle between the powers on this question, as all are agreed that it is best not to press any reform measures until the new regime has been given a fair trial."

THAW FINALLY ADJUDGED BANKRUPT.

Efforts to Take His Case Out of New York Courts.

Pittsburg, Aug. 12.—Harry K. Thaw was formally adjudged a bankrupt by Judge in Bankruptcy Blair. This action was a surprise, as United States Commissioner Lindsay had set Aug. 21 as the date for the adjudication.

No explanation of the change of plans has been made, but it is believed that Receiver O'Malley's hurried visit to Thaw at Poughkeepsie may have had something to do with the move. Blair has not announced the date of the first meeting of Thaw's creditors. Under the law this must be held not sooner than ten days and within thirty days.

An effort will be made to bring Thaw to Pittsburg for the first meeting of creditors and unless District Attorney Jerome of New York is able to prevent his coming, it is believed Thaw will be in Pittsburg within thirty days.

Every move in the Thaw proceedings has shown the determination of Thaw and his counsel to take his case out of the New York courts and force a hearing on the question of his mental condition in the Pittsburg courts.

Some attorneys believe that soon after Thaw is brought here to face his creditors an attempt in New York will be instituted in local county courts. If the verdict in such instance should be that Thaw is sane, New York authorities probably would be unable to get him back to that state, where the only ground for holding him a prisoner at present is that he is an insane person.

Thaw's status would then be the same as that of John A. Chandler of Richmond, who is held to be insane in New York state, but sane in Virginia, his native state, where he has been living since escaping from a New York asylum. It is not safe, however, for Chandler to visit New York, and property he owns there is controlled by a guardian.

CITY COUNCIL OF TEN.

Boston, Aug. 12.—Plans for a new city council were given to the Boston finance committee by Professor Zuehlke of the University of Chicago, when he spoke to that body on the city election revision. Zuehlke expressed the belief that the form of city government that Boston needed would include a council of ten men, elected at large, each having responsibility for some geographical area, and having executive and legislative power, under the constant direction of the citizens.

WEDDING ON WAISHIP.

Vallejo, Cal., Aug. 12.—Harry P. Bowen, ordinary seaman on cruiser South Dakota, and Christina Hudson of San Francisco were married on the deck of the cruiser at Mare Island, Chaplain McAlister, U. S. N., officiating. This is the first wedding solemnized aboard a war vessel at Mare Island, and the whole ship's company witnessed the ceremony.

SHOT WIFE AND VISITOR.

New York, Aug. 12.—Returning home last night and finding his wife entering a man in his dining room, Leonard Beidel, a railroad mechanic, fired four shots at the couple, three shots taking effect in the body of Walter Rich, the visitor, and the other entering Mrs. Beidel's breast. Both will probably recover. Beidel was arrested.

RACE WAR NOT UNLIKELY.

Chandler, Okla., Aug. 12.—Sheriff Martin and Deputy Sheriff Parker of Lincoln county were ambushed by sixteen negroes in a negro neighborhood and both men were shot. One negro was killed and another fatally wounded before the shooting ceased. The wounds suffered by the officers are serious and a race war may follow.

RUSSIANS IN EVIDENCE.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 12.—A dispatch from Tiflis says that the Bash of Persia has announced his intention to hold elections Sept. 11 and convene the new parliament Nov. 14. Parliament will be on the Russian model, but Russian members being appointed.

NO NEW CLEWS AT METHUEN.

Slayers of the Two Policemen Are Still at Large.

"ARLINGTON MILLS GANG."

Officers Say Strange Men Have Been Seen With Them Recently and Are Endeavoring to Round Men Up and Put Them Through a Course of Questioning—One of Jamaica Plain Bandits Seen Near Scene of Crime.

Methuen, Mass., Aug. 12.—No definite clues have developed from the investigation by the local and state police of the murders of Officers Emerson and McDermott last Sunday morning. Many rumors which came to headquarters were followed up, but all proved to be apparently useless, as far as indicating the whereabouts of the murderers gang was concerned.

Some berry-pickers told of finding a pair of shoes and stockings in the woods, and a man and woman told of seeing a barefooted man lying asleep beside a country road last Sunday. The information did not seem important to the police, but like everything else which may have a possible bearing on the solution of the mystery, it is being investigated.

Both the state police and the Methuen officers say that nothing new has developed. State Officer Barrett came here last evening to take part in the investigation. He is the third member of the state police who has gone to work on the case here.

Late yesterday afternoon the Methuen selection met and voted to offer a reward of $300 for the apprehension of the murderers. No other rewards have been offered or will be offered, as far as the selection are informed.

The state police last night examined Joseph Devine, a Lawrence man, who was thought might be able to throw some light on the Methuen murder mystery. Devine was detained at the Lawrence police station and will be further questioned. He is said to be a member of the "Arlington Mills gang," so-called, according to the police.

Word was received from South Acton that three men had been detained there for examination and that one of these was also known as one of the "Arlington Mills gang." The three will be held until they can be questioned by state officers.

Officers from Lawrence and this town searched all day for members of the Arlington Mills gang of Lawrence. They are very desirous of questioning the man relative to the murder of McDermott and Emerson.

While the police do not say or infer that the Arlington Mills men had anything to do with the killing of the officers, they do say that there have been many strange men seen with the gang in the past week and they have all been missing since last Saturday.

The developments in the case now lead the officers to believe almost conclusively that the murders were committed by either members of the Jamaica Plain gang or by the bandits who terrorized Woburn.

There is no question but that Peter Plande, the alleged member of the Jamaica Plain gang, who is now missing, has been in Lawrence. He called at the home of a friend and secured the loan of a certain sum of money. He stated at this visit that he was going west with some friends. Whether or not he carried this plan into effect is only a matter of conjecture.

Louis Applebaum, a well known real estate dealer, furnished the police with the information that Plande was near the scene of the double murder on Saturday, and he has identified a photograph of the suspect as the man he met while making collections in the foreign colony the day of the crime. According to Applebaum's story the Plande suspect had his arm done up in a sling and appeared lost.

MOTOR RAIKED.

Washington, Aug. 12.—Captain Bald, who made the first official speed trial of his military dirigible before the army board at Fort Myer. When within a mile of the finish line a secondary wire connecting the coil of the engine with the commutator broke and the motor stopped. The dirigible was brought down in a corn field, and after the motor was repaired the flight was continued. The accident prevented any possibility of making the speed required by the contract, but Baldwin has two more trials in which to demonstrate his speed.

TO PROBE PREPARED FOODS.

Washington, Aug. 12.—Pools of every description, especially those prepared for infants and invalids, will be scientifically investigated by the bureau of chemistry of the department of agriculture to determine whether or not they are injurious to health. The proposed investigation is the outgrowth of numerous requests from all classes of persons who desire to know whether the various infant and invalid foods are pure.

SOLDIER FOR GOVERNOR.

Dallas, Aug. 12.—The Republicans of Texas, in state convention, named a full state ticket and promulgated a platform. Colonel J. L. Simpson of Dallas, a Confederate veteran, was nominated for governor.

FLEET OFFICERS VISIT THE MAORIS.

Weird Dances Performed For the Benefit of Americans.

Auckland, N. Z., Aug. 12.—Weird sights were seen by Rear Admiral Sperry and the contingent of officers of the American fleet who spent today at Rotomua and adjacent points in the Thermal district as the guests of Prime Minister Ward and a delegation of members of parliament.

Besides attending the ceremonies in honor of the opening of the new government building and receiving a hearty welcome at the hands of a great assemblage of Maori tribesmen, an opportunity was afforded the Americans to visit many of the strange freaks of nature in the neighborhood—great and small geysers, the boiling steam pit at Tikhono and the multi-colored lakes of hot, cold and temperate waters.

After the ceremonies of inaugurating the new bath, had been completed, the Maoris in large numbers, dressed in their weird costumes, greeted the American admiral and his officers. At first the chief of the tribesmen, according to ancient rites, challenged the visitors, desiring to know whether they value in peace or in war. Having received assurance that the mission was a peaceful one, the air resounded with the yells of the tribesmen, and there was a stamping of trampled feet in the war dances, and the Maori dances. The Americans greatly enjoyed the weird scene.

Admiral Sperry thanked the Maori chief for the welcome of the fleet, and for the entertainment they had afforded himself and his officers. The chief made a foolish reply in the course of which he remarked: "We sent our warriors to meet you as you are all warriors—sailing men. Had you been ordinary people we would have sent the women first."

The Maoris presented Sperry and the American officers with many priceless Maori heirlooms.

GREAT LOSS AT FERNIE.

Winthrop, Maine, Aug. 12.—After contributions received at Fernie now amount to $75,000, besides many cases of provisions, tents, blankets, hay and oats. The loss to individuals outside of the big companies at Fernie totals $2,250,000. At Fernie a heavy rain of electricity put out the fires still threatening the town.

HOLY ROLLERS CREATE TROUBLE.

One of Their Number Assaults a Magistrate.

PROMPTLY KNOCKED OUT.

High Priestess of the Sect Had Previously Circulated Report That Magistrate Had Attempted to Hug and Kiss Her—She Is Held in $5000 Bail on a Charge of Contempt of Court—Other Arrests.

New York, Aug. 12.—There was an exciting scene in the corridor of the New Bedford avenue police court in Brooklyn late yesterday when Howard Dunwiddie, a disciple of the Holy Rollers, a strange religious sect, attacked Magistrate Higginbotham, before whom twenty-five men and seven women members of the order had been arraigned, charged with disorderly conduct.

Dunwiddie demanded to have a private talk with the magistrate, and when the latter refused to oblige him, Dunwiddie, according to many witnesses, struck the magistrate on the neck. The blow was a light one and Higginbotham recovered himself quickly and retaliated by striking Dunwiddie squarely on the jaw. The Holy Roller staggered backward for ten feet and then fell in a heap. As he arose to his feet and tried to flee he was captured by a policeman and dragged into the courtroom, where the magistrate again beat the man and held the prisoner in $1500 bail on a charge of assault.

There was another sensational happening during the afternoon, when the Holy Rollers were arraigned. Miss Elizabeth Robinson, high priestess of the order, was accused by the magistrate of having circulated the report in the courtroom that he had attempted to hug and kiss her while she was holding a private audience with him in his chambers. Two reporters, who were in the room during his private talk, testified that Higginbotham had not tried to hug or kiss the high priestess, and Higginbotham demanded that the police explain her statement. On advice of her lawyer Miss Robinson refused to comply, so the magistrate held her in $2000 bail on a charge of contempt of court and $1500 bail on a charge of conducting a disorderly house.

It was at Miss Robinson's residence in Brooklyn that the Holy Rollers conducted their weird meetings. The police raided the house on complaint of Mrs. Michael Gabriel, a former member of the sect, who said that many mystic rites are practiced. Gabriel was the chief witness against Miss Robinson and her followers in court. He described strange dances and rites that he claimed to have witnessed in the meeting house. Magistrate Higginbotham held all of the prisoners in bail for trial.

SEARS' HURTS FATAL.

Providence, Aug. 12.—J. Montgomery Sears, millionaire lawyer and society man of Boston, died at the Rhode Island hospital from injuries received early yesterday morning in an automobile accident near Norwood. J. Montgomery Sears was the son of the late J. Montgomery Sears of Boston. Three years ago, when his father died, the younger man inherited a very large estate, and he was said to be the richest man in Boston, the realty holdings of his father in 1905 amounting to $1,750,000, according to the assessors' figures. Sears was in his 27th year and was graduated from Harvard in 1900, and later from the Harvard law school.

A BETTING TEST CASE.

New York, Aug. 12.—Charles McHenry, who was arrested for receiving $500 in bet for a friend on a horse, was discharged from custody. The court of special sessions acquitted him of the charge of bookmaking, on Justice Gray's recent decision that an individual bet is not a crime. The case was conducted personally by District Attorney Jerome, who told the justices that he had studied it out for a test.

NO BLOOD WAS SHED.

Winthrop, Mass., Aug. 12.—The first collision between strikebreakers and union pickets occurred last evening, when a picket approached a strike-breaker and asked him to cease working. An altercation followed and the strike-breaker drew a knife. The picket at once summoned assistance from his comrades and they disarmed the man.

HUT'S MAYOR THREATENED.

Boston, Aug. 12.—A letter of threat was sent yesterday to Mayor Hibbard, in which the chief executive was warned to abolish the folding home commission which he recently appointed to inquire into the advisability of leasing folding houses about the city. The mayor was not disturbed about the letter and credits it to some "crank."

TRAIN HIT STREET CAR.

Detroit, Aug. 12.—Six men were injured severely when a fast passenger train struck and wrecked a Harper Avenue street car. A binding rail, which prevailed is thought to have been responsible.

THE WEATHER.

Albany, Friday, Aug. 14. Sun (clear)—4:50, sets—6:47. Moon rises—8:14 p. m. High water—12:30 a. m.; 1 p. m. There will be showers in New England, followed by fair weather.

SEEMER A DEGENERATE.

Coroner's Jury Holds Him For the Murder of Tuffa Shashem.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—Hassim Seemer was held by a coroner's jury on the charge of murdering Tuffa Shashem, a Syrian lad, whose dead body was recovered piecemeal a fortnight ago from the Chicago river. Witnesses told stories which pointed strongly toward the guilt of Seemer. According to the testimony he was a degenerate. Shashem was last seen entering Seemer's room. Seemer on that night was seen in the place where the dismembered body was found later. He was carrying a bundle of considerable weight. Road stunts were found on articles in his room. Seemer is a Turk and a devout Mussulman. He insists that he is innocent of the crime charged against him.

SCHOOLSHIP'S THIRD FATAL ACCIDENT.

Six Persons Killed and Many Are Terribly Mutilated.

Toulon, Aug. 12.—Six persons were killed and eighteen injured in a gun explosion aboard the gunnery schoolship Couronne, of Les Salins d'Hyeres. The accident occurred while a number of recruits were receiving instructions in handling a 161 millimeter gun, the breech of which blew out. Three of those wounded are in a desperate condition.

The shell had hardly been pushed home when it exploded with tremendous force. Shots of flame darted backward from the gun and those standing nearby were hurled to the deck. Several of the new men were terribly mangled. Two were permanently blinded and the limbs of others had to be amputated immediately. They arrived at the hospital. All the occupants of the turret were more or less injured.

This is the third fatal accident to occur on board the Couronne within the past sixteen months, all of which were due to the blowing off of breechblocks. In the first, April 10, 1907, three men were killed and several injured, and on Aug. 2 of the same year three men of the crew of a four-inch gun were killed and five were wounded.

All the accidents occurred off Les Salins d'Hyeres, where is situated the French artillery school. The Couronne is an old vessel, having been built down in 1891, but new boilers were installed in 1898. Her armament consists of thirty four guns of various sizes and her complement is 622 men.

A SINGULAR CASE.

Philadelphia, Aug. 12.—L. Emerson Wheat, a physician, aged 45 years, was found dead in his home at Nineteenth and Diamond streets, in one of the most pretentious residential sections of the city, under ghastly circumstances. Beside the body, which lay on a couch, two women were found praying for his resurrection, and muttering strange incantations, though physicians say the condition of the corpse indicated that the man had been dead at least forty-eight hours. The two women were Mrs. Fannie Smith, a professed spiritualist, and Miss Florence Beckman. They were arrested.

LABOR ENDORSES DEMOCRATS.

Denver, Aug. 12.—The Colorado Federation of Labor in convention, by a voice vote endorsed the Democratic party in the national campaign. The endorsement was given after the reading of a long communication from President Gannett and members of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, in which the Republican party was declared to have "insulted" labor and the Democratic party to have given the laboring men all that was asked of it, and calling upon laboring men generally to support the party which had favored them.

HIGHERS' UNTIMELY FATE.

Denver, Aug. 12.—Charles E. Higbee of Denver, a noted tunnel builder, was almost instantly killed by a broken guy wire at Shoshone, a camp of the Central Colorado Power company. Higbee had constructed forty-nine tunnels. In construction of the Shoshone tunnel in Italy he is said to have broken the world's record for fast boring. He was 52 years of age.

OFFICERS' TEST ENDS.

Hurlington, Vt., Aug. 12.—With all of the fifteen officers in perfect physical condition, although lame and fatigued, the three days' endurance test was ended at Fort Ethan Allen last night. The men covered thirty miles in twenty hours and forty-four minutes, being sixteen minutes within the time allotted to them.

THE FASCIA AT CORUNNA.

Corunna, Spain, Aug. 12.—The United States schoolship Itasca arrived here yesterday. This is the first vessel of the American government to call at Corunna since the Spanish-American war. The crew of the Itasca was given a splendid welcome on land, a regatta being organized in their honor.

OUR CANDIDATES:

FOR PRESIDENT

WILLIAM H. TAFT
of Ohio.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT

James S. Sherman
of New York.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 13, 1908

ALL RIGHT IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

The campaign will not open in New Hampshire till the gubernatorial and other candidates have been nominated in September.

Before that time the people of our neighboring states of Maine and Vermont will have settled their political affairs for a couple more years except the annual municipal elections and the formality of a vote for president in November.

New Hampshire people are fortunate that the great disturbances of the campaign are to be in states at a considerable distance from us. We can attend to business while the political exigencies of other communities work the upsetting of all business.

In Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and Massachusetts, our own state and the three states that touch our borders, the only political excitement of the year comes from the contests for Republican nomination. This part of the country is all right and heartily hopes that November will prove the rest of the land to be in the same condition.

Up to the hour of going to press Editors Pillsbury and Moses were still at it, although it is said they are both suffering from fatigue.

Governor Floyd did himself and the state much credit in his conduct of the silver service presentation and all the functions attending the same.

It would not be surprising before the present campaign closes if the discovery is made that most of the talk in the newspapers was merely hot air.

The poor old railroad ghost, how sad—and yet no man ever handed in the governor's chair who has flattered the "anti machine" platform as his only claim for election.

The Herald does not propose to fire its readers with a lot of chatter as to why this or that man should be nominated for Governor. It does not believe in stalling its friends in the back in the interest of this or that candidate. It will, however, condemn any attempt of either of the candidates trying to smother the character of the other. It has no sympathy with the men who are trying to injure the good name of candidate Quimby.

BIRD'S-EYE VIEWS

Alfred R. Shofford, librarian of the congressional library at Washington from 1881 to 1887 and for many years assistant librarian, died Tuesday at the home of John G. Nichols, Hingham. His death was due to heart trouble.

Miss Addie L. Gage of Bedford, who shot Orrin Graves at her farm July 27, was arraigned before Justice Jesse B. Parker at Manchester on a charge of assault with intent to kill, and after pleading not guilty and waiving examination through her counsel, Albert O. Brown, was held without bail for the September term of the grand jury. Mr. Brown presented a petition to Chief Justice Robert M. Wallace of the superior court at Henniker to fix bail for Miss Gage, and it was set at $3,000.

Newspaper correspondents from the towns about the Maine edge of the White Mountains state that the green worm pest has reached there and the foliage of all hardwood trees is fast disappearing, and maple orchards and shade trees as well are beginning to look as though it were winter, some are left with a green leaf on them. There seem to be two kinds of worm, one larger than the other with numerous black hairs on its back. These are not so plenty as the other smaller smooth kind and work slower. Thousands of acres are infested and wherever the growth is birch or rock maple and yellow birch the trees are as bare as in winter time. White maple and poplar are not eaten and none of the evergreens.

The Maine farmers are estimating the Arrostoch potato crop at 12,000,000 bushels.

Charles S. Whitaker of Manchester has brought suit for $5000 Tuesday against the Manchester Traction, Light and Power Company to recover damages for injuries he claims to have sustained while killing brown-tail moths. Mr. Whitaker alleges that the company negligently allowed wires heavily charged with electricity to run through the branches of the trees and with which he came in contact.

One of the largest business deals for several years in York county, Me., when the Goodall Worsted Company and the Maine Alpaca Company consolidated, under the name of the Goodall Worsted Company, with a capital of $1,000,000. The original capital of the worsted company was $500,000, and that of the alpaca company $500,000. The worsted mills are at Sanford and the alpaca mills at Sanford and Springvale.

OUR EXCHANGES

Better Mills Are Coming

The first fruits of the new mill law, passed recently by Congress, are beginning to appear. The New England state mill laws will get nearly two million dollars, which certainly ought to build up the national guards in our section of the country. They are all in a high state of perfection now and this national aid will enable them to reach a still higher state of development and ready for immediate work in the field at an instant's notice.—Malden News.

Reason for Saving the Forests

The calculation has been made that American rivers annually carry forty thousand billion feet of water, which, descending an average of 200 feet, develops a force of not less than 300,000,000 horsepower. If only one-tenth of this were harnessed and used it would represent, at $20 per horsepower, an annual value of $600,000,000, which is equal to the value at the mines of all the bituminous and anthracite coal produced in the United States.

The substitution of water power for power obtained from the combustion of coal would tend to do away with the smoke nuisance in cities, conserve health and in many cases, enhance the value of property. No wonder that after years of neglect the water powers of the country are once more being laid under contribution to public tasks or the benefit of man.—Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin.

One Way to Save the Forests

Among other things in which America leads the world is in the amount of fire loss. Such is the report of the National Board of Fire Underwriters. Why not? America piles up the biggest heaps of inflammable material, and is the most care-

DAILY FASHION TALKS

BY MAY MANTON

A GRACEFUL GOWN OF FOULARD.

FOULARDS never were more generally worn than at the present time and never were lovelier. This one is exceedingly charming in color while it is made in an attractive, graceful manner yet is quite simple without so that it can be utilized for a great many occasions. The skirt is of the simple princess sort which combines the normal waist line at the front with the short one at the back and can be either tucked or gathered at its upper edge. It is circular in cut and consequently flares becomingly at the lower edge where in this instance it is finished with a wide silk hem and bands of velvet ribbon, the upper portion of the hem being overlaid with applique.

The blouse is a novel and attractive one, made with a prettily shaped yoke and with a chemise that can be of any thin transparent material that may be liked. In addition to the foulard, the blouse is made of all materials that are as good as silk. It is shirred with success will be found appropriate and just now, when there are so many bargains offered in the silk and cotton lines, it may be well to suggest that one of these would make an exceedingly beautiful and successful gown for the late summer.

For the medium size will be required, for the blouse 3 1/2 yards of material 21, 2 1/2 yards 27 or 1 1/2 yards 44 inches wide with 1/2 yard of silk for the fancy collar and either 3/4 yard of all-over lace for the chemise and cuffs, or lace banding according to the width used; for the skirt 10 yards 21, 7 1/2 yards 27 or 5 yards 44 inches wide with 3 yards of silk, 6 1/2 yards of applique and 3 yards of insertion to trim the entire gown as illustrated. A May Manton pattern of the blouse, No. 5900, sizes 32 to 40 inches bust, or of the skirt, No. 5877, sizes 22 to 30 inches waist, will be mailed to any address in the Fashion Department of this paper on receipt of ten cents for each. (If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage which insures more prompt delivery.)

less in the oversight of them. Leading the world in these two ways, leading the world in the amount of fire loss is easy. A good deal is said about the conservation of natural resources, and presidents call conferences and governors anxiously suggest conventions, where learned and alarming papers are read and speeches are made, and where imposing committees are appointed. Why wouldn't it be well to turn a little attention to the conservation of artificial resources? Here we construct great factories and build long and costly rows of business blocks, then we neglect some of the most obvious and ordinary elements of safety and burn the structures to the ground. It is waste, just as much as reckless mining or the deforestation of mountain sides. Resources whose accumulation have cost much of labor and saving are wasted, to give America the proud remembrance of leading the world in fire loss.—New Bedford Standard.

WONT THEY HOLLER?

Magnates Want Players to Pay Their Own Expenses

Eastern magnates of the National league are planning to make the ball players pay their own expenses on the road, and it is probable that this will go into effect next year. A report from New York stated that the owners of the club were figuring on placing their players on the same basis as actors, who always pay their own hotel bills and other expenses.

They even go so far as to decide that the players shall purchase their own uniforms and bats. This is also keeping in line with the acting profession where the actors buy their own costumes and "fixings." A lend and continued fear is expected to follow when the players get wise to this plan of the magnates.

As it stands at present the men live like princes on the road, the owners paying for room and meals at fifteen hotels. In fact, the players partake of the fat of the land, and in addition to this draw their salaries. The only time when they have to dig for themselves is when their team is playing at home.

will insist on their players putting up at first-class hotels.

In the past it has been the experience of ball teams that when the players are given so much for each meal on trains, and told to buy for themselves, several dash for the first

NEW ENGLAND HEROINES

Some of the famous heroines of the world, both in history and fiction, have lived in New England, and have owed much of their fascinating history to their environment in this sturdy, pungent atmosphere, which has produced so many great men and women.

Agatha Renton was a daughter of English and French parents, born in the old Bay state and nurtured in the cabin of an ancient whaling vessel that was moored at one of the picturesque wharves of New Bedford. She was named "Miss Pettibon" by her grandfather, an old sea captain, that being the best English he could make out of "Non patre coram," the endearing title Agatha was called by her dying mother when she gave the little child to Capt. Stewart, who brought up the winning, lovely girl and the most novel surroundings possible. Inheriting the artistic temperament of French father and the strong stern morals of her German mother, "Miss Pettibon," as known by the author, became one of the most interesting and lovable heroines the novel reading world has had, for some time.

The book was truly written by two eminent Boston journalists under pseudonym of "Dwight Tilden," that being the middle name of each, and created a sensation when published by the C. M. Clark Publishing Co., because of its original style and conception, which were extremely clever. It had every element for a strong play and was first produced at the great Boston Theatre several years ago, where it was received by crowded houses and voted to be the great success of the season.

The career of Agatha, from her quaint cabin home, through the trials and vicissitudes of modern life, until she appears in brilliant situations, and she is one of the most attractive heroines on the stage today.

A great cast of players will present "Miss Pettibon" at Music Hall on Sept. 5 for one night only.

Modern Man and Charms.

Many a hard-headed business man will stop to pick up a cast horseshoe or a "lucky" farthing, and is not a bit ashamed of the fable, but pockets them with great satisfaction, comments the London Crown. It is a fact that civilization has not improved us much in relation to our quaint beliefs, and charms and amulets are collectable and interesting curios.

How Girls Walk.

Between their short skirts and their smart pumps the feet of the average young woman are extremely conspicuous just now, and passing glances at them reveal the fact that most girls and women do not know how to walk properly. Ninety-nine out of a hundred of them place the heel on the ground first, a trick that is not only tiresome, but extremely ungraceful.

The First Encyclopedia.

The honor of first bringing a dictionary of general knowledge into alphabetical order belongs to Ephraim Chambers, an English Quaker, whose taste for literature was acquired in a gloom-maker's studio; he stole the time belonging to his master to compose behind the shop counter the encyclopedia published in 1727.—American Review of Reviews.

Harm Done by Wrong Food.

A New York skin specialist says: "Had I to choose between the cook and the apothecary as a collaborer, I think I would not hesitate for a moment to yoke myself with the former." He goes on to say that "the board kills more than the sword." Many people eat not only the wrong foods, but too much of them.

National Conversations.

If you see three men standing together on the sidewalk in any given country, you can guess the subject of their conversation. In Germany it is the army; in Russia the bureaucracy; in France, women; in the United States, business; in England, sport, and in Turkey, nothing at all.—La Dernière Heure, Brussels.

Nightingales Under a Ban.

It is said that no nightingales sing in Havering, England. Legend has it that the singing of the birds disturbed the devotions of Edward the Confessor when at his Havering palace, and he therefore placed them under a ban from which they have never recovered.

Bird and Insect Weavers.

The art of weaving, rope and net-making is practiced by some of the lower forms of life, notably among caterpillars and spiders. The weaver birds of Africa and India, which are a species of finch, construct wonderful nests out of leaves by sewing them together.

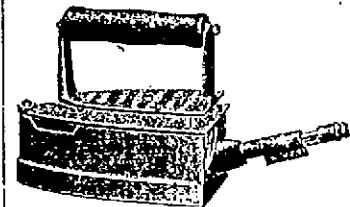

Gay World Condemns Fat

The new modes having rendered fat ladies de trop, that is to say, "not in it," there is, naturally enough, much earnest inquiry among them as to the best methods of reduction. Their demand being for something which will do the work without interfering with their meals or their leisure, eliminates everything of course except Marmola Prescription Tablets. Fortunately these pleasant, inexpensive (least 50¢ of any—effective quantity costs only 75¢) little standbys of the overfat do neither, but take off their 12 to 20 ounces of fat a day without a particle of help or a morsel of injury to any one.

The Marmola Co., Detroit, Mich., by whose authority these tablets are made, guarantees them in strict accordance with the famous prescription 1 ounce Marmola, 1 ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Annalis and 8 1/2 ounces Syrup Simplex, and thus, as any druggist who has put it up (and most of them put it up several times a day) will tell you it is quite harmless—much so that it doesn't cause even a wrinkle.

WOOLEN MILL MANAGERS MEET

Secret Conference Reported to Have Been Held This Week in Portsmouth

It has leaked out that a secret conference of woolen mill agents from all over New England was held in Portsmouth on Tuesday night.

They were the representatives of mills outside the American Woolen Company.

They came in the evening, quietly got together, told nobody their business, and took the early trains on Wednesday morning for other parts. What they did has not been revealed.

It is supposed that Portsmouth was selected for the meeting because of its central location and the fewness of local parties who would be likely to recognize the agents and discover what was going on.

IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS

Don't Mistake the Cause of Your Troubles. A Portsmouth Citizen Shows How to Cure Them

Many people never suspect their kidneys. If suffering from a lame back or aching back they think that it is only a muscular weakness, when urinary trouble sets in they think it will soon correct itself. As a matter of fact, it is the kidneys that are the cause of all these troubles. That is why where the danger lies. Yet many cure these troubles by taking pills for diabetes or Bright's disease. The best remedy to use is Doan's Kidney Pills. It cures all the troubles caused by weak or diseased kidneys. Portsmouth people testify to its permanent cures.

Terrance McGrath, of a Hardware Store, Portsmouth, N. H., says: "I was continually having troubles with my kidneys but without obtaining any permanent relief. Sometimes I had severe pains across my back, accompanied by a feeling of dizziness and headache. I knew my kidneys were the cause of the whole trouble for the secretions plainly showed a large amount of sediment in them. I went to Dr. Patrick's drug store and got Doan's Kidney Pills. The first box brought great relief and after I had taken a second box the back ache disappeared and the trouble with the kidney secretions was corrected. Anyone having kidney disease in any of its various forms can make no mistake by using Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMunn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

RELINQUISHES HER CHILDREN FOR $100

HUSBAND PAYS MONEY OVER TO WIFE WHO, HE SAYS, WAS POOR HOUSEKEEPER.

SIGN A WRITTEN AGREEMENT

Children Beg Mother Not to Leave Them, but Urge by Husband, Woman Starts for England.

Detroit, Mich.—One of the most remarkable separations ever brought to public notice is that in which, for a consideration of $100, Mrs. Paul J. Thomas formally waived all rights and interest whatsoever in her six children, her husband and his property.

The woman blessed her children great by, made her adieu to the neighbors and went to the railway depot on the arm of her husband. The couple embraced, each politely wished the other the best of health, and the husband returned to his home.

The following is an agreement into which Thomas says he and his wife entered before she went away:

"By this agreement between Mrs. Paul J. Thomas, hereinafter to be known as the party of the first part, and her husband, Paul J. Thomas, party of the second part, entered into this day, June 5, 1926, it is agreed that the party of the first part shall forfeit all claim to the party of the second part, his children and any property or real estate which they may jointly or separately own, and it is also agreed and thoroughly understood by both parties that the party of the second part shall have sole charge and control of said children, and that he will be responsible for the welfare and training of them, and it is also agreed by both parties that in consideration of the sum of $100 (one hundred dollars), paid by the party of the second part to the party of the first part, upon receipt of same, the party of the first part shall take passage to London, England, and there remaining, also the party of the first part agrees not to moist nor annoy the party of the second part, or his children, or any of his relatives in England."

The copy exhibited by Thomas was typewritten and unsigned, but he declared the original, with his and his wife's names attached, had been placed in a safe-keeping as a safeguard against any future interference in his affairs by Mrs. Thomas.

"She took a copy with her and so did I," he explained. "She was not tidy about the house and she did not bring the children up properly, so I decided to send her back to her sister. She agreed to go, so there is nothing more need to be said."

The oldest of the six children abandoned by Mrs. Thomas is Adelaide, 11 years old. The youngest is George, not yet two years old. On the former the cares of the household have temporarily fallen. She was lucked to side with her mother when seen the other morning.

"We knew mama was going away," she said, "and we stayed awake, although both papa and mama thought we were asleep. That was last Thursday night. It was about half past ten, I think when mama picked up a suitcase in which she had some things and started to go."

"Good-bye, who is now to be in charge?" asked 12-year-old Paul, and begged mama not to go away. She cried, but she said papa did not want her any longer and she had to go. Papa was always mad at mama. He said she did not keep us clean and last night when a policeman came to the house he said mama was bad which mama had been in bad. I guess mama was not the only person who had been bad while mama was here."

"I don't see how I can be happy," Thomas said. "I left England and came to this country because I did not want my people to see how poor a housekeeper she was. We talked of separating as early as six months ago. We agreed to do it that way because we did not want to go through the publicity of a divorce. We were good friends when we parted. I kissed her at the depot, but it was only at her urgent request."

MAN, AGED 62, TAKES CHILD FOR HIS WIFE

FATHER OF TEN CHILDREN, A SECOND TIME MAKES LITTLE GIRL HIS BRIDE.

Reading, Pa.—Having married, while young, Azar, a girl who he had no children, all still alive, Jacob Klink was divorced, and upon reaching the age of 57, married a sensation in Wilmington, where he lived, by marrying Daisy Belles, a school girl of 13. Daisy divorced him five years ago for cruel conduct, and at 62, he again set Wilmington by the ears by marrying Emma Lutz, 11 years old, daughter of Charles C. Lutz, with the consent of her parents. Klink's family, greatly incensed, strenuously tried to avert the marriage. The bride is pretty. She backed herself in an upstairs room.

He Married a Schoolgirl of Thirteen.

When a correspondent called at the house, Klink, a civil war veteran, said: "Emma is my wife and I am proud of it. The neighbors and even my own family have been striving to separate us, but their efforts, instead of destroying my affection, only increased my desire to make her my wife."

"I met Emma a year ago last summer. At the first meeting I was struck by her gentle ways and loving disposition, and immediately I became interested in her. I think the world and all of Emma and her whole heart and soul are wrapped up in me. She loved me and I loved her, so we determined to get married. No, I do not think it queer that a man of my age should marry a girl like Emma. As long as we love one another the age question does not count."

When Klink was asked whether he thought this match would terminate like his marriage with the Belles girl he replied:

"Oh, no, Emma is altogether different. She understands me and I understand her. My trouble with Daisy was due to her parents."

WIFE TAKES HIM TO JAIL.

Husband Is Afraid Even to Speak in Her Presence.

Kansas City, Mo.—Here he is, now back him up. I went over town and arrested him myself and made him come across the line with me. I'll show him he can't pick up and desert me."

The speaker was Mrs. Della Lewis of Kansas City, Kan., and her remarks were addressed to Acting Sergeant "Pat" Richardson at police headquarters as she married her husband, Smith Lewis, up to the sergeant's desk. Officer Richardson did not know what to make of the matter at first and asked what charge she wished to have against her husband.

"The charge has already been made," continued Mrs. Lewis. "I swore out a warrant several days ago for his arrest for not supporting me, but he slipped over to Kansas City, Mo., to avoid arrest. I went over and found him and here he is."

No one at police headquarters knew anything about the case and City Attorney Nelson was called. He stated that it was true that Lewis was wanted for abandoning his wife and family. He was arrested and locked up.

"Now that I have landed you in jail I will be on hand in police court in the morning to prosecute," were the parting words hurled at Lewis by his wife as he was being led to the cellblock. Lewis offered no resistance and appeared to be afraid to speak in the presence of Mrs. Lewis. After she had gone he remarked to the jailer: "She's fierce. I can't do a thing with her."

Lived Thirty-Five Years in Cage.

Stony City, N. J.—Gabe has a little girl in short skirts, Christiana Galt, 40 years old, who lived for 25 years in a cage, playing with children's toys, has been returned to the county farm.

The case is one of the most pitiful ever encountered by an Iowa constable. All his life the man has been cared for by his brother, Ole Galt, a working man, who did the best he could to maintain the unfortunate man and keep him from becoming a public charge.

Dwarfed and with muscle and tissue shrunken up from lack of exercise, with complexion yellow from lack of exposure to the sun, the demented man bears more resemblance to a strange animal than a human being.

Japan is making an attempt at a new, native constitution. As an experiment, new candidates are being sent to the House of Representatives. One is completed and in use, giving satisfaction.

GIRL IS RESCUED FROM KIDNAPER

POSSE AND HANDIT ENGAGE IN EXCITING RIFLE BATTLE IN CALIFORNIA.

MAIDEN IS USED AS A SHIELD

Desperado's Plan Was to Hold Her for Ransom—Has Wild Ride Through Mountain and Desert Glad Only in Nighttown.

Fresno, Cal.—After a desperate battle between a posse party and Cleveland Rodgers, one of her ablest, most daring kidnapers, a young girl was rescued from the desperate clutches of the kidnappers who captured her the other night at the home of her father, Asch, a prominent mill, furniture and stockman, who lives in an isolated section of Fresno county.

Young Lovell, the other kidnaper, who joined in the daring midnight ride, left Rodgers and the girl earlier in the day and so far has escaped his pursuers. After the exciting battle between Rodgers and his pursuers, which took place at a lonely cabin near Jack's springs, the desperado surrendered and was taken to jail at Coalinga.

Threats of death were made during the evening but no attack on the girl was made. Rodgers surrendered to his pursuers only after the investigation of his life was empty. He used the body of the girl for a shield when the fusillade from his pursuers began and this action saved him from being wounded. But Rodgers at length gave up the attempt to save himself, by using the girl's body and took refuge behind a partition from which he was rescued when his life was empty.

Edna was at once taken in charge by friends, and was found to be uninjured and to have withstood the ordeal bravely.

The girl was clothed in her night-dress, and her shoulders and arms were covered with a man's coat, which Rodgers had placed up from a cabin in the foothills. On her head there was a wide-brimmed sombrero; her feet were bare and were badly burned by the sand and sun. She had a towel to walk on under the side of her father's horse, and when the present became hot, had been thrown across the animal like a sack of corn, face down, in front of Rodgers, but she was alive and well. That was all her father could do.

The chase after the girl and her abductors was long, hot and desperate. It included dramatic incidents and exciting detail. The men who had called at the call of Desperado, the father, knew that a young girl was in awful danger, and they believed in the need of desperate haste spurred them on under a blazing sun and over the rough mountain roads.

The party started from Coalinga before six o'clock in the morning. At that hour Desperado rode into the town wild-eyed and dazed. He told several of his friends and told them of the events of the preceding night, how two masked men had ridden up to his house, fired his barn and burned the family by the shots; how they had overpowered them by the discharge and display of rifles, and had driven off with his daughter, Edna, in his own buggy, announcing that the girl would be returned safe to him the following evening at Jack's springs in Walling canyon, on payment of a ransom of $5000.

Desperado promptly offered a reward of $5000 for the capture of the kidnappers, but the money incentive was not needed to spur on the rescuing parties. The father started out in an automobile to search the foothills. Sheriff Clifton began action at once looking to the capture of the two bandits, with what success will be developed.

BULL TERRIER AIDS OWNER TO END LIFE

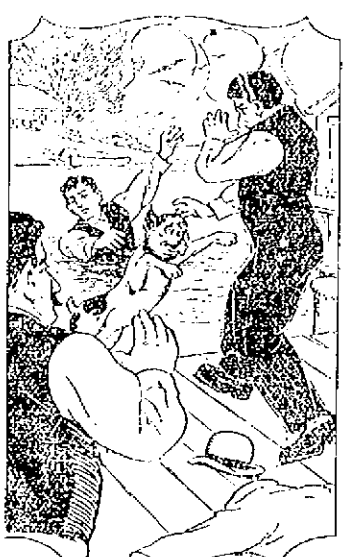

SAVAGELY ATTACKS MEN WHO DRAG MASTER FROM CANAL AT STEELTON, PA.

Steelton, Pa.—Aided by his faithful bull terrier, Henry P. Turpin, aged 32, drowned himself at the Ohio attempt in the old Pennsylvania canal at Steelton, near here, the other day.

Three times did the devoted animal attack those who went to the rescue of his master. Twice he was defeated, and the would-be suicide pulled out of the water, the third attempt he plunged into the canal and held a swimmer at bay long enough for his owner to accomplish his purpose.

Turpin spent the night drifting, and only next morning, accompanied by his dog, plunged headlong into the canal, which is very deep.

Edy and McCord and Frank Maggall saw Turpin in the water and made an attempt to save him, but the dog sprang at them, biting a piece of flesh from the wrist of Maggall.

The Dog Thwarted Every Attempt to Rescue His Master.

The dog was then thrown aside and held by another man, who appeared on the scene, while McCord and Maggall swam to the side of Turpin and dragged him to shore. Turpin was very angry because the men would not permit him to commit suicide.

Shortly after six o'clock he returned to the canal and again jumped in. An other attempt to reach him was made by the two men, but the dog attacked each one and hit McCord on the neck, three more Turpin was rescued and the men telephoned for a policeman.

Home he arrived, however, Turpin with the assistance of his dog, got away from his rescuers and made a third and successful attempt to end his life. He ran to the canal, yelling "Good-bye!" and jumped in.

Once more the men tried a rescue, but the dog, more vicious than ever, chased one after the other from the edge of the water.

One of the men succeeded in passing the dog and jumped into the water, but the dog followed and attacked him. After he had spent some minutes trying to pass the dog a police man arrived and by shooting at the animal, scared him from the canal.

The rescuers then dragged Turpin to shore, but found him dead.

BOY LOCKED IN WITH RATS.

Aroused Sleeper Has a Terrific Fight in Theater at Night.

Reading, Pa.—Locked in a Pennsylvania movie picture theater, 12-year-old Edward Fredericks was attacked by rats and had the most thrilling experience of his career. Visiting the theater early in the evening, young Fredericks secured a corner seat where he fell asleep.

At 11 o'clock the theater was closed the sleeping boy not being observed. Toward morning Fredericks was awakened by a pulling and hauling at his feet, and soon realized that rats by the hundreds were after him.

The rats had already been chewing out of his shoes and the rats' teeth had lacerated his feet. He started to fight the rats off, and, according to the story, the fight lasted several hours, during which his cries and the squealing of the rats could be heard several doors away, but not by anyone in the house.

At five o'clock in the morning he pounded against the door and finally a passerby heard him and helped him crawl over the top of a moving picture machine box and to liberty.

He Required Time.

Just before Mark Twain's daughter, Miss Clara Clemens, sailed for Europe she attended a reception at which she met one of the friends of her Hartford childhood who had been a very small boy, but had grown to be an unusually tall man. Thinking that Mark might not remember the friend, she said to her father:

"You remember Tom Jones, father?"

"I remember part of him," replied Mark, peering up at Jones, "but it seems to me it would take a week to remember all of him." —Harper's Weekly.

INNOCENT CONVICT FREED BY A DREAM

STRANGER, TROUBLED BY VISION, IS MOVED TO SECURE A PARDON.

SEES ANOTHER DO MURDER

Incident of Severed Right Hand Sent to Faithless Wife Had Impressed Him—Tragic Answer to Divorce.

San Antonio, Tex.—Pardoned from a life sentence because of a dream—such is the romantic circumstance surrounding the release of George W. Jones from the Texas state prison at Huntsville, where he was incarcerated 11 years ago on the charge of murdering a woman.

In many respects Jones was a remarkable convict. The murder for which he was imprisoned was committed in Williamson county. A woman whose name had been hanged here or there by local gossip was found dead. Certain circumstances pointed to Jones as the murderer. He was tried and convicted. His wife showed her devotion by removing from her home to Huntsville, the penitentiary town, so that she might visit him frequently. He was well-to-do and furnished money for her support.

Jones maintained his innocence of the crime, setting forth that he was at all times devoted to his wife and had never associated with other women. For about a year Mrs. Jones was a frequent visitor at the prison. It was the one bright spot in Jones' prison life—these visits from his wife.

But there came a time when the visits were not so frequent. Jones phoned, but his wife explained that she feared to gain the displeasure of the prison officials.

One day after the visits had slackened there came a civil officer to the prison with a divorce summons for Jones.

"Here is a paper for you," said the officer.

Jones' heart fluttered—probably that

"Take This Back to My Wife."

faithful wife of his had scorned him a pardon.

He glanced at it hurriedly—he read it by the morning.

Clutching up the hatchet with which he had been working, he severed his right hand at the wrist, and with his left he brandished the amputated member to the duty sheriff, saying:

"Take this back to my wife, and tell her it is my answer to her divorce summons—my good right hand; a hand that has never committed a crime, but has watched all these years for her return."

The divorce was granted and the wife of a married man—married a man who she met in Huntsville, where she was living in her near her convict husband.

Jones' wounded arm healed after a painful sear, but he always mourned for his wife, and often in the night the guards on their rounds would hear him sobbing her name.

And now for the strange part of the story.

J. H. Waldrup, who lives at Chester, Tex., and who ten years ago read newspaper accounts of how Jones had chopped his hand off, dreamed a few weeks ago of the affair. He also saw in his dream, the murder of the woman—saw the wretched creature, he declares, as plainly as though he had been an actual eye-witness.

Waldrup was so impressed with his dream that he felt called upon to study the case. He neglected his own business and delved into the records. He interviewed the prosecuting attorney in the case. He sought the trial judge, long since retired, and begged him for assistance in freeing Jones.

At first Waldrup's dream was looked upon as a joke. His friends feared for his sanity. But he kept persistently at his task, and at last attracted more or less of a following. Little by little, the tangled skein was unwound, and now through the dream of Waldrup, a total stranger, the governor of Texas and the pardon board have set free Convent Jones.

Heretofore the wife for whose love he sacrificed his right hand, Jones has sought seclusion on a ranch near San Antonio, where he says he shall remain.

SHE CATCHES BURGLAR BY HER POLITENESS

SUAVITY AND STRENGTH OF PLUCKY WOMAN LAND THIEF IN JAIL.

New York.—A burglar who was trapped by Mrs. Mollie Brown in her apartment on Court street, Brooklyn, the other day, had never a chance at escape. First he was overwhelmed with politeness and then awed by a display of force on the part of the young and pretty widow.

Mrs. Brown had been downstairs visiting with other members of her family, and when she returned to her apartment let herself in by the parlor door. Walking back to the dining-room, her footfalls silenced by the heavy rugs, she was startled to find a man collecting the silverware.

In her politest manner, as though welcoming some favored caller, Mrs.

"You'll Stay Right Where You Are Until the Police Come."

Brown spoke to the burglar and inquired his business. The man jumped at the sound of her voice and faced Mrs. Brown, who smiled sweetly. The burglar was nonplussed. Like an embarrassed schoolboy he stood nervously twiddling his left which he had snatched off his head.

"I was just looking for a furnished room," he finally stammered.

"Oh, yes, we have some furnished rooms and would be glad to let them. Won't you sit down until I call my mother?"

The burglar sank into a chair and remained there until Mrs. Brown's call for her mother had been answered by Miss Rose Molino, a cousin, and Dorothy, a younger sister.

"Go downstairs and call the police," Mrs. Brown told her sister.

The frightened girl ran downstairs screaming. The burglar jumped to his feet.

"There, this thing has gone far enough," he said gruffly. "Stand aside and let me out of here."

"You'll stay right where you are until the police come," declared Mrs. Brown, her manner also changing and her voice taking on a tone of command.

"Get out of my way or you'll regret it," said the burglar, making a menacing move toward his hip pocket as though to draw a pistol.

"I can shoot too," declared Mrs. Brown, holding a silver purse half-revealed behind her back as though it was a revolver.

The burglar made a dash for the door, but Mrs. Brown caught his arm and flung him back. She stood her ground until the arrival of a policeman. The policeman found a very meek and subdued burglar.

At the station house the man gave his name and said he lived in Rochester. Several skeleton keys were found in his pocket.

MAD DOG SCARE IN JERSEY.

But Poor Brute Only Had a Hornet In His Mouth.

New York.—"Mad dog, run!" The alarming cry sounded repeatedly as the truly good people of the Bloomsdale section of Bloomfield, N. J., were going home from church. Hearing it, deacons took to their heels and pallid beaux hurriedly helped young women over fences, proving, evidently, that tan shoes and stockings are very fashionable in Bloomfield.

Down the street dashed a black dog; its eyes glared and foam decked its jaws as he comes any dog with rabies. But it did not try to bite any human or any dog; every now and then it halted and pawed its mouth, and howled mournfully.

The dog approached Miss Cissy Campbell, a farmer's daughter, but she did not try to escape it. The cries redoubled.

"Mad dog, run!"

The poor brute, cowering, crawled to Miss Cissy's feet and looked up at her appealingly. Its attitude saying plainly, "Please help me."

As Miss Cissy knelt and opened the dog's mouth several young men plucked up courage to approach.

"Isn't he mad?"

"I guess he is," said Miss Cissy, calmly, "and anyone who would be mad if you had an angry hornet in your mouth."
